

Alma for Digital Resources COVID-19 Offering

OVERVIEW

Due to the current coronavirus (COVID-19) situation, libraries are closed and physical items are no longer accessible. Staff are searching for ways to provide their patrons with electronic and digital alternatives, particularly to support remote teaching and learning.

In light of the current global pandemic, Ex Libris is offering Alma community members who are not currently subscribed to Alma Digital access to Alma Digital for 3 months with a predefined number of titles and storage.

Alma Digital can extend and enhance the library's offerings of online resources, which is especially useful and important for students who need access to as wide a range of materials as possible during this period of remote learning.

- Alma Digital is ready and available to use. As an existing Alma user, no installation or provisioning is needed.
- A rich set of training and documentation materials, including a Starter Kit, is available to get you going.
- All digital content uploaded to Alma will also be available through Primo. This content can be organized into collections, for easy end-user browsing and discovery.
- Access rights policies will provide full control over who accesses which content.

WHAT WE ARE OFFERING

The offering includes full availability of all Alma Digital features for a period of 3 months – at no additional cost. The offer allows for usage of up to 500GB and the upload of up to 1,000 digital metadata records per institution.

* This offering will be open for registration until September 1st 2020.

You will be provided with:

- A Quick Start Training Kit in the Knowledge Center
- An initial, overview webinar to help you get started

At the end of the free use period you may choose to either:

- Subscribe to continue to use Alma Digital
